GATWICK —
RODOLFO DORDONI 2019

This table, designed by Milanese architect Rodolfo Dordoni, takes the name of London's Gatwick airport, one of the busiest in the world. A hub where cosmopolitan travellers meet every hour of the day and night on their way in or out of the U.K. capital, much like a table where people meet for dinner. The aluminium frame supports elegant rectangular or oval tops of different sizes enriched with wood or marble, selected from the Molteni&C collection.
