

Policromo and Policromo Double are hand tufted rugs for exterior and interior environments.

The texture of these rugs consists of dense and regular bouclé stitches that are tufted to a polypropylene backing.

Compared to Policromo, Policromo Double is produced with a higher number of yarns, has a surface slightly softer and a higher thickness.

Only one mélange colour can be chosen.

Visible stripes or parts of the rug where one of the colours used to create the over mélange tone of the rug prevails, are a result of the hand tufting technique and are the hallmark of craftsmanship, which make each rug unique.

The manual production technique of Policromo and Policromo Double advises against the use of these rugs in high traffic areas.

We advise against the use of Policromo and Policromo Double in very humid or rainy environments.
