

This light gray parsons wood table features a trio of angular legs that evoke a flying buttress construction to support the tray-like round top.